Outcomes of our education support programs

In 2023–24, we supported 220,627 participants.

67,165

children through our Learning for Life program overall and each child is important to us.

178,430

children and young people through our education support programs.

You are part of a group of people who are committed to their children doing well at school.

To measure the success of our Learning for Life program, we look at:

1. Attendance

Regular school attendance helps your child do their best at school.

We collect attendance information from your child's school report.

83.8%

was the average attendance for Years 1–10 Learning for Life students in 2023.

2. Advancement

Progressing from Year 10 to Year 12 improves your child's life outcomes.

You provide this information when you confirm your child's study plans in Year 11 and 12.

64%

of Learning for Life students in Year 10 in 2021 continued on to Year 12 by 2023.

3. Engagement

Studying or working after Year 12 increases your child's chance to engage in work and society fully.

We collect this information via our engagement surveys.

83%

of students who were in Year 12 in 2022, were in education, employment or training 18 months after leaving school.

Missing even 1 day a month is 12 days a year and 144 days across your child's entire schooling journey - that's more than half a school year.

These outcomes are good, but we know we can do better together!

Together, we want to help every one of the 67,165 children and young people on Learning for Life attend school regularly, complete Year 12, and go on to further study or work.

To do this, we will:

- ✓ Focus on improving school attendance below 90%.
- ✓ Increase offers and access to education support programs at home.
- ✓ Provide you with more information to support your child through their schooling journey and transition to further study or work.

You'll hear from us throughout the year, but you can reach out to us, when you need. We're in this together.
